TWO YOUNG HEARTS

Two of the most attractive young players on the screen portray the leading roles in the new Goldwyn picture, "Watch Your Step," coming to the Torrance Theatre Sunday only. They are Cullen Landis, who will be remembered for his excellent work in many earlier Goldwyn productions, and Patsy Ruth Miller, a charming ingenue appearing for the first time with Mr. Landis. The acting of these two is fresh, spontaneous and altogether delightful in a charmingly wholesome comedy. For the most part the action of the story is laid in a village where the young hero finds himself under rather trying circumstances. Because of an automobile accident which he believes has resulted in a man's death he wishes to conceal his identity, and finding himself in the secluded village concludes that he may as well remain there.

Julien Josephson, the author of "Watch Your Step," displays a thorough knowledge of small town life in his development of the incidents consequent upon the appearance of the young stranger. All of the familiar village characters are perfectly drawn and woven into a story that holds the attention during every moment of its unfolding. Under the direction of William Beaudine, performances of conspicuous merit are given by Bert Woodruff, William Orlamond, John Cossar, Lillian Sylvester, Cordelia Callahan, Alberta Lee and L. H. King.

GLAD RAGS AND THE MAN

The boy knew that all that stood between him and being a swell was the lack of glad rags. He was only a bell boy in the Ritz-Waldorf hotel, but when he covered his "buttons" with the swagger top coat of a guest who had checked his wraps, why he might have been Lord Algernon Abbott Aberdean Abernathy himself.

At least that was what the Hard-Boiled Party thought, and as it was very essential, in order to carry out a nefarious scheme, that he produce Lord Algy at the fox hunt of Mrs. O'Brien, he offered to provide the clothes if the boy would play the part of Lord Algy. That is how Harold Lloyd happened to be "Among Those Present." He thought it was a joke, a masquerade all in fun, and so it was, but the fun was not for Harold, but rather for the audiences at the Torrance Theatre, where "Among Those Present" will be shown on Thursday and Friday, April 20-21.

Among those in the supporting cast are Mildred Davis, Aggie Herring, Vera White, James Kelly and William Gillespie.

BERT LYTELL'S CRIME RECORD ON THE SCREEN

Bert Lytell has been discovered to possess numerous questionable spots in his supposedly spotless screen career. In "A Trip To Paradise," his new Metro picture, he is tempted to crack safes in his leisure moments, while in "Alias Jimmy Valentine," "Boston Blackie's Little Pal" and "Boston Blackie's Redemption" he was revealed as an all-around bad man until the white light of reform descended upon him.

His safe-cracking venture in "A Trip To Paradise" comes when he, as a Coney Island barker out of a job, is in desperate need for money for his wife, who is about to become a mother. He gets caught and wounded. Under the influence of ether he feels himself mount to heaven.

"A Trip To Paradise" is a Maxwell Karger production of Benjamin F. Glazer's adaptation of a Franz Molnar drama. The scenario is by June Mathis.

"A Trip To Paradise" will be shown at the Torrance Theatre on Thursday and Friday, April 20-21.

Misses Opal McIntyre of Ocean Park; Rose Strachan, Los Angeles, and Helen Reeves of Gardena were the house guests of the Misses Ruth and Florence Beckwith Saturday and Sunday.

In a letter received from Mrs. C. W. Newby this week she states that she is enjoying herself, but misses her Torrance friends. She also states that little Irene is very much improved in health. Mrs. Newby is visiting relatives in the east.

Mrs. M. A. Hall, who made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Allen Stevens, on Andree avenue for a couple of years, was operated on for gallstones in the hospital at Neodasha, Kansas, last week. Her many friends in Torrance will be pleased to know she is getting along nicely.

Mrs. W. M. Blue and daughter, Mrs. E. R. Blue, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., are visiting the former's daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stewart, of Greenwood street, Vista Highlands. Mrs. E. R. Blue left Monday for Hollywood for a short visit and will then return to her home at Niagara Falls, New York.

One of the greatest personal triumphs the American stage ever knew was registered by "Joe" Jefferson, who in "Rip Van Winkle" made the name a household word. But that success, great though it was, is as nothing compared with what Thomas Jefferson, his son, has done in bringing "Rip" to the screen. See him at the Torrance Theatre Saturday, April 15.

The screen has seen many an interesting picture, but never has there been created a production more pleasing than "Rip Van Winkle," the most recent Hodgkinson release, made under the direction of Ward Lascelle, which comes to the Torrance Theatre Saturday, April 15. It is a gripping picturization of Washington Irving's classic, and Thomas Jefferson in the title role leaves nothing to be desired.

BALE ENTERTAINMENT

On Thursday evening, April 6, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bale entertained at their home on 220th street for their Washington friends in Torrance and vicinity. Delicious refreshments were served at eleven o'clock and a very enjoyable evening was spent with music and games.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Parker, Mrs. Josephine Lunstrum, Mr. Russell Lunstrum, Miss Clara Johnson, Dr. and Mrs. Steiner, Master Charles Steiner, Dr. Daniel Pierson, Miss Ethel Bale, Mr. Homer Bale and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bale, all from South Bend, Washington; Mr. Laurence Crowell and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tourtelotte from Seattle, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Raymond and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Young from Centralia, Washington.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

On Saturday afternoon Doris Wood invited a few of her little friends in to play with her at her home, 1916 Andree avenue. They played games and enjoyed music celebrating her birthday. Ice cream and cake were served. A prettily decorated cake with eight candles upon it graced the table, and all had a most delightful afternoon. Those present were Virginia Lee Ethel and Genevieve Guyon, Mary McLean, Doris Wood, Master Louis Murray, Mrs. Murray and Mrs. Don Van Voorhis.

KEYSTONES

Oll! Oll! Oll! Be careful, folks. Don't crowd. The prospects for two wells to be started in the next sixty days are good. Quite a number have their two hundred acre bonus money in the bank. Don't think for a minute oil companies are paying out good money just to show their friendship.

Several pieces of land have changed hands the past ten days. Buyers are in the neighborhood daily, and most folks are sitting tight, waiting to see which way the cat jumps.

Every day brings a new one. New homes started the past week are A. W. Sims on Carson avenue, Mr. Peck on Figueroa and Mr. Marcolia on Harbor Blvd. Also A. J. Johnson has just completed one of the largest poultry houses in this district. We notice the ones with the large poultry flocks are the ones we meet oftenest at the bank.

J. P. Gates is heading in the right direction. He is starting the first of a series of bungalows on his place. The practical assurance of oil and the paving of Carson avenue means a doubling of population in Keystone inside a year.

The road gang is still filling in the ex-mud holes in our roads. Let's give them three cheers. Nothing helps like good roads.

The Chamber of Commerce of Redondo, Hermosa, Venice, Ocean Park and Santa Monica have joined Torrance and Long Beach in the effort to get Carson paved from Torrance to Long Beach Blvd.; also the County Planning Commission. These communities realize that an east and west highway is a crying and vital need. Already the supervisors have an ear to the ground. A united front means the battle is more than half won.

The ladies of the P. T. A. are getting ready for a bazaar at the Carson avenue schools in the near future. Your co-operation in aiding this splendid organization will be appreciated.

There is a well-founded rumor that the Board of Education will see that Keystone has a modern, up-to-date school building if the school bonds carry in June. Moral: Work for the bonds.

CENTRAL CHURCH GUILD

The Central Church Guild met at the home of Mrs. John Guyan, Andree avenue, last Thursday afternoon, April 6. After the regular routine business was disposed of plans were discussed to erect a bungalow on the lot adjoining the church on Arlington avenue. This building is to be used for Sunday school rooms, social functions and gatherings of the different organizations, as all the different societies, organizations and the Sunday school of the church are growing, and they expect soon to find it necessary to make extensions in some way to care for the crowded condition. Before leaving, the hostesses, Mrs. Otto Mickelson, Mrs. Spaulding and Mrs. Guyan, served delicious refreshments.

LAUNDRY TO OPEN SOON

The new machinery is now being installed in O. P. Stone's building on Border avenue, just recently purchased of the Dominguez Land Company, for the new laundry, which will be in operation in the near future. Mr. Stone has just recently arrived from Chahalis, Wash., where he was engaged in a most successful laundry business. Having disposed of his business he decided to come South and look for a location, and chose Torrance as an ideal central location. The new laundry is being equipped with all up-to-date and modern machinery for this business.

EASTER EGG HUNT

An Easter Egg Hunt was held on Thursday, April 13, at the home of Mrs. A. G. Solomon of Carson street from two o'clock until four. Interesting games were played and refreshments were served. The party was given for the children in the beginners and primary departments of the First Baptist church. Teachers, Mrs. H. B. Transchel and Mrs. George Woodside.

SOLICITORS AND PEDDLERS

The Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce request the housewives of this community to ask any solicitor or peddler who calls on them to show their license or permit. This action is requested with a view of protecting the city from undesirables.
